OWEN'S PLAN IS FOR MUZZLING WIND JAMMERS

ADVOCATES OF CLOTURE RULE ARE GREATLY IN THE MINORITY

Washington, Dec. 3.—Democrats in the senate failed in conference last night to agree on a proposal to limit debate. They engaged discussion of the issue today, but several senators intimated that a no closure agreement could be reached in conference and that a rules council would develop on the opening just Monday. Such a contingency, it was admitted might delay organization of the senate and prevent the holding of a joint session of house and senate Tuesday to hear the president's message. Administration leaders however expressed confidence that some agreement on rules would be worked out by Sunday.

The conference today had before it a proposed amendment to the rules submitted by Senator Owen's special committee. As agreed upon by the committee yesterday the new rule would have made it possible for the majority to enact upon a vote of 51 bill within two days. Before it was presented to the conference today it was revised to provide that no senator could speak more than one hour on a measure after the senate should decide that filibustering tactics were being employed.

Senators Owen, William and Walsh spoke at length in support of the rule. They maintained that the senate was not a continuing body and that it would be necessary to adopt new rules next Monday. If the majority fails to agree upon what these rules should be the special should hold that the senate is not a continuing body. There might be serious difficulties in organizing the senate on the opening day.

Besides the closure bill the conference this evening will decide on a candidate for president pro tempore. Senator Foreman of Okla. is a candidate against Senator James B. Beck of Arkansas who seeks reelection. The amendment is said to be designed to prevent filibusters from preventing the passage of bills. The absent senators Lewis of Illinois, Martin of Tennessee, Lee of Texas, and the senior of Texas.

EVANGELIST TELLS OF CHRISTIAN LOVE

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE.) which Jesus would have them do. Jesus knew all about short comings, but he was only remembering the good things which they had done. Then followed a searching arrangement of the various calling themselves church critics.

Jesus demanded that we give him in return for all he has given of his love, that first love, which we have professed and declared when we became his followers. "We love him because he first loved us," just as we love our parents because they first loved us. The love of Jesus for his church was the purest first love between the bride and the bridegroom.

"When you and I render the deep agony which purchased our redemption, which gave us pardon for all our sins, we feel like ingrates when we find our backs turned on Jesus."

PATRON'S CLUB HOLDS AN INTERESTING MEETING

At the first and well-attended by well-known patrons.

They took up pictures. He illustrated and explained the necessity of getting before the plastic mind of a young audience that would understand and grasp and urged that copies of the old masters be given the children at an early age. He illustrated this part of his address with several beautiful prints and was enthusiastically applauded at the close.

There was also discussion on the subject of the disappearance of the old masters.

"Those are the things I want to see in this life," said the "sharpish, cleanliness and comfort." At the close of the discussion there was a motion made that a uniform composed of robes and shirts be recommended for such scenes as this and it was unanimously passed. It was also decided that there should be a limited set to the price of graduation dresses making it possible for students of moderate means to be as well dressed as their companions.

A social hour followed, dairy refreshments being served by the teachers and hostesses Mr. Peacock, Mrs. Shoopland and Mrs. Isham.

FIRST EXECUTION BY "JUICE" DECEMBER 10

is not known has been established by the prison authorities, it is said.

While no intimation has been given by the governor as to what he will do, it is generally believed that he will not interfere. He has repeatedly stated that he will never commute a death sentence unless some unusual condition exists.

Installation of the death chair in the penitentiary was completed several months ago. The law provides that the execution shall be performed by the warden or one of his deputies. Warden R. W. Dick is known to be an ardent opponent to the infliction of the death penalty and it is expected he will designate one of his deputies to turn on the current if the execution is held.

REPUBLICANS OF STATE ARE ORGANIZING

Wade Oklahoma Republicans in 1916 and their organization is a step in the campaign of mobility and education which the Republican state committee has undertaken in its first to carry the state to 1916. The state committeemen of various counties are active in the work of organizing their clubs, which will be used as platforms for the regular organization of the county.

The organization of the clubs is very erratic in the movement that at no time with the club attempt to recruit the candidates of any person or organization or appointment to any office, not before the party has made its selection shall there be any dissension of the candidates of any person. In other words, the purpose of the clubs is to boast any man or set of men, but to provide a common ground, where all Republicans can meet and aid in the dissemination of Republican principles.

Besides the closure bill the conference this evening will decide on a candidate for president pro tempore. Senator Foreman of Okla. is a candidate against Senator James B. Beck of Arkansas who seeks reelection. The amendment is said to be designed to prevent filibusters from preventing the passage of bills. The absent senators Lewis of Illinois, Martin of Tennessee and the senior of Texas.
